LETTER FROM DAVID BELLE, CEO

Dear Friends,

As you will see in the following pages – and elaborated further in another letter from our country director Dr Erlantz Hyppolite, there has been continued, important progress in our work this year and we have marked new major milestones in our organizational history.

In Port au Prince, the Academy for Peace and Justice celebrated its first ever graduation, a culmination of six years of investment and hard work in collaboration with our friends and partners from around the world and with the St Luke Foundation in Haiti. In Jacmel, Artists Institute restructured and ushered a new generation of local leadership, another culmination of six years of investment in capacity building. And abroad, together with new friends in Europe, we launched an important inaugural event to benefit girls' education through our Brilliant is Beautiful scholarship fund.

Between these big moments, there were hundreds of smaller achievements that are no less important. The relentless determination of the APJ staff, Board and Advisory Board to support our vision based upon long-term commitment and concrete results was played out day after day, as we all continued to raise ongoing support and awareness for secondary and higher education in Haiti. Our work is no small feat in a world with so much need and shorter attention spans. What we have all learned in the past six years is that institutions take time to create and develop, but they leave lasting impact, whereas short-term investments generally create temporary impact - at best.

Haiti has been the recipient of short-term thinking, planning and mediocre investment for too long. And just as the Earthquake of 2010 revealed the fragility of that poor planning and investment, so did the recent and devastating Hurricane Matthew in the fall. Over 900 people were killed and much of the Southwest was destroyed as a result of the storm. In the aftermath we heard many people say, "My goodness, poor Haiti has such bad luck. What is it about that place?" Sadly, without considering and understanding the centuries of Haiti's challenged history, it does look like just a long string of bad luck – but of course, it is not. The storm went on to neighboring islands and there were almost no deaths in other nations, just as earthquakes greater than the 2010 event in Haiti do little damage elsewhere. In our small way, we can all be proud to be part of building two great institutions that not only withstood the storm but hopefully will be still standing and functioning in decades to come.

We thank each and everyone of you for your vital support.

David Belle

ARTISTS INSTITUTE

Artists Institute is a college for art and technology in Jacmel. The Institute creates modern opportunities for Haiti's underprivileged youth to foster entrepreneurship and business development in local creative industries.

The Institute is made up of two divisions: Ciné Institute, Haiti's only film school, and Audio Institute: We Are the World School of Music and Audio Engineering. Both divisions offer two-year programs focused on training, professional development and employment services.

AUDIO INSTITUTE

Audio Institute brings together leaders in audio engineering, music production, and education to train and support young artists, producers, and technicians. Through theory and practice, graduates emerge as highly skilled professionals prepared for modern opportunities in creative industries.

The centerpiece of Audio Institute is a magnificent, professional recording studio, where students receive hands-on experience and renowned artists visit for sessions and collaborations.

Founding seed capital was provided by Quincy Jones' and Lionel Richie's We are the World Foundation.

CINÉ INSTITUTE

Ciné Institute brings together leaders in cinema and education to train and support Haiti's budding filmmakers. Equally focused on storytelling and technical training, Ciné Institute prepares students for all types of film industry careers.

The Institute creates hundreds of local jobs annually for graduates and community members servicing renowned local and international clients.

TESTIMONIAL

LETTER FROM ERLANTZ HYPPOLITE

Dear Friends,

2016 has been a major milestone year for APJ. Our work on the ground in Haiti and abroad has taken incredible strides and it has been thanks to you and your support.

At the Academy for Peace and Justice, we celebrated our inaugural graduating class. Friends from around the world flew in to join us in honoring our students. We also celebrated the opening of our newest building, Wing IV, which will be home to the future graduating classes and the new art department. Our students achieved a 98% success rate on the 9th grade Haitian National Exams (the highest success rate to date) and our graduating class achieved a 70% success rate on the 13th grade National Exams, making them eligible to receive their diploma. What a remarkable year at the Academy.

We've had a very busy year at Artists Institute as well. We integrated more graduates than ever in our school's history into the pedagogical programs, moving closer to our goal of having a fully Haitian staff. Many of our students and graduates received recognizable grants, participated in local workshops and were accepted into notable international internship programs. We also launched the official Artists Institute YouTube Channel, featuring work from our students and graduates. We are excited to have a platform through which to share their work with the world!

Ciné Institute films were featured in multiple local film festivals this year, providing a fantastic opportunity for the students to share their work with their communities and generate more interest in Haitian cinema. Through Ciné Services, our employment and income generating division, we produced films and radio spots for both national and international clients, including the “My Hero” national video campaign for UNICEF.

Our Audio Institute division is now in its third year, and we are so proud of the work our students are creating. From collaborations with Michael Brun to welcoming the legendary Jackson Browne to our recording studio, this year has been full of exciting opportunities for our students. Audio and Ciné divisions teamed up to produce POZE Sessions, a video series of local Haitian musicians playing in our recording studio! Bon Bagay!

Your support makes our work possible. Thank you for investing in the future leaders of Haiti.

With gratitude,
Erlantz Hyppolite
Country Director

HEALTHCARE

As part of our mission to support health care for the poorest communities in Haiti and our commitment to supporting lasting institutions, Artists for Peace and Justice supports the St. Luke Family Hospital via an annual grant enabling students from the Academy for Peace and Justice to receive free health care. The hospital provides quality medical care and dignified humanitarian outreach to the poorest, most underserved and vulnerable populations in Port-au-Prince. Services provided by the St. Luke Family Hospital include a modern surgery facility and emergency room, CT scans, digital x-ray, a high level ICU and rehabilitation unit, professional medical teams, and mobile disaster units.

St. Luke provides long-term employment for 900 Haitians, and serves 120,000 patients every year.

DIGNITY

Artists for Peace and Justice partners with two independently run programs in Haiti that collectively provide music education to over 1,300 underprivileged young people each year.

Academie Musicale Occide Jeanty provides music education to 120 students per year in Cité Soleil, the poorest slum in the Western Hemisphere.

École de Musique Dessaix Baptiste in Jacmel provides music education to 1,200 students per year and boasts five genres of orchestra.

These programs offer a positive after-school activity all too rare in students' communities, as well as nurture their skills for success - creativity, collaboration, self-discipline, and motivation.
